

OBJECTIVES

The objectives of the College shall be the advancement of veterinary activities in the field of animal reproduction by:

1. acting as an institution to qualify members of the veterinary profession as specialists in animal reproduction by establishing and defining the standard of qualification.
2. the development of graduate teaching programmes in animal reproduction.
3. developing and supervising continuing education programmes for veterinarians interested in animal reproduction.
4. the encouragement of its members to pursue original investigations and to contribute to the scientific literature.
5. defining and describing the speciality disciplines of animal reproduction.
6. supervising the professional activities of its members.
7. promoting co-operation with national veterinary associations, breeders associations, government institutions and international agencies.